Florida is a no-fault state. Your own PIP coverage pays up to $10,000 in medical bills and lost wages first, no matter who caused the crash, but only if you are treated within 14 days. Miss that window and you can lose those benefits.

Most injury claims in Florida now have a two-year deadline to file suit after the 2023 reform. Evidence also fades fast, and insurers move quickly to limit what they pay. The sooner an attorney protects your file, the stronger your position.
